BA African Verbal and Visual Arts (Languages, Literatures, Media and Art)

40120	Methods in Linguistics S 2 hpw, Wednesday 10-12 BA AVVA major subject C10, minor subject C5	Sommer
--------------	--	---------------

This seminar is the first part of a module on linguistic and literary methods. It gives an overview of structures found in the great variety of African languages, i.e. in their phonology, morphology and syntax. Depending on interests and subject background of the participants, we will also discuss topics such as linguistic diversity, globally and in Africa, and questions of language and identity. Recommended reading: Genetti, Carol (ed.) 2019. How languages work. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.

40121	Methods in Literary Studies S 2 hpw, Thursday 8-10 BA AVVA major subject C10, minor subject C5	C. Vierke

In this course, students become acquainted with Literary Studies' key concepts, canonical genres, methods and theories. The course deals with the theoretical approaches which are necessary for an interpretive understanding and a systematic analysis of literary productions, as, for instance, text-oriented but also context-oriented approaches. Moreover, the course addresses the neglected link between literature and field research by providing students with methodological tools. These can be used to conduct, for example, a small-scale empirical reception study of selected works, which demands a context-sensitive methodology.

40122	Writing for Special Purposes S 2 hpw, Thursday 14-16 BA AVVA major subject C11	Rohmer

The course trains students in analysing and writing different professional and audience-oriented texts with an emphasis on useful strategies for effective argumentation. Thus, the outcome is familiarity with the basic technical writing skills necessary for an academic career, as well as in other fields of professionalization, such as journalism or public relations.

40129	Field of Specialization 3 / Field A: Linguistics Linguistic Field Research Methods S 2 hpw, Wednesday 12-14 BA AVVA major subject E3	Harvey

Central to linguistics is the collection and analysis of language data, but how is this data collected, prepared, and analysed? In this module, students will work in a simulated field situation with a speaker of a lesser-known African language in order to collect, organise, and analyse novel linguistic data. The main part of the course will see the class work as a team to plan and conduct elicitation sessions, manage the data and metadata generated, and conduct preliminary analyses of this data to address the general questions of the team, as well as the more specific questions of the individualised projects. Throughout, specialised support will be given in learning digital tools for field methods, working with and analysing the emerging data, and the preparation and presentation of findings to a specialised academic audience. This course is designed for those interested in pursuing documentary and descriptive fieldwork, those interested in collecting linguistic data for theoretical work, as well as those working with and evaluating previously-collected linguistic data.

40130	Field of Specialization 3 / Field B: Literary Studies Literature and Culture Ecocriticism S 2 hpw, Thursday 10-12 BA AVVA major subject E3	Rohmer

The seminar explores ecocriticisms, environmental thinking, and nature writing. Hereby, the course centres contemporary cultural productions from the African continent and its diasporas. After an introduction to the theoretical framework of ecocriticism, students are invited to bring their ideas to class.

Introductory reading: Iheka, Cajetan. 2018. Naturalizing Africa. Ecological Violence, Agency, and Post-colonial Resistance in African Literature. Cambridge University Press.

40131	Field of Specialization 3 / Field C: Media & Art Iconology and Ideology Female Artists in Modern African Art S 2 hpw, Wednesday 10-12, Iwalewahaus BA AVVA major subject E3	Klug

This course will identify and critique the works of multiple contemporary female African artists. Participants will discuss theories and methods in critically reflecting the relationship between images and ideological apparatuses. The seminar will analyse artist works and lives in a socio-cultural context and discuss texts related to these topics. Participants will learn about various artistic schools and, by following a timeline progression, discover if and how the pioneers among these artists cleared the path for present and future female artists in Africa, focusing among others on discussions of ideological implications and power structures.

40135	Advanced Seminar 1/2 / Field A: Linguistics Languages and Meaning AS 2 hpw, Thursday 16-18 BA AVVA major subject E4, E5, minor subject E3	Sommer
--------------	--	---------------

Semantics looks into the ways in which meaning is 'encoded by linguistic expressions' (Israel 2019: 164). How can we find out – as linguists – how meanings are encoded in languages around the globe and in African languages in particular? After a first introduction into the topic, we will discuss questions asked e.g. in lexical semantics: What role do prototypes play? What are semantic frames or scripts? How do conceptual metaphors work? Basic readings: Israel, Michael. 2019. Semantics. In: Genetti, Carol (ed.) How Languages Work. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, pp. 164-194. Goddard, Cliff. 2011. Semantic analysis: A practical introduction. 2nd edition. Oxford: Oxford University Press.

40136	Advanced Seminar 1/2 / Field B: Literary Studies Literary Theories AS 2 hpw, Monday, 8-10 BA AVVA major subject E4, E5, minor subject E3	C. Vierke

The aim of this course is to focus on a variety of current, prominent literary theories, so that students can develop a multifocal and informed perspective on African literatures. We will foremost consider postcolonial approaches and feminist theory as well as recent discussions on world literature. In a second step, we will focus on various case studies from Africa to see how these theoretical perspectives can change and expand our perspective of written and oral texts.

40137	Advanced Seminar 1/2 / Field C: Media & Art Art, Media, and Meaning: History of Art AS 2 hpw, Thursday 10-12, Iwalewahaus BA AVVA major subject E4, E5, minor subject E3, EIMAS	Schramm

Meaning in the visual arts – when Erwin Panofsky published nine essays under this title in 1955 his main interest was concentrated on the canon of European art history like the humanistic conception of men, the Gothic architecture or the Renaissance painting. In this seminar, we deal with the hermeneutical challenges of contemporary art. To this end, we question the current state of research from an African-centric perspective expanding the focus on media and performing arts.

Recent debates on curatorial art and media studies are introduced in all phases of the project. Students are recommended to take this course during their second semester.

40140	Realization of the Project Part 2 P 2 hpw, Wednesday 10-12, Iwalewahaus Minor subject Curators' Track module 2 part 2	Fink
--------------	--	-------------

The project consists of the organisation of a curatorial work based on the conceptualisation of the prior module. The content of the module includes the curatorial realisation and a public presentation of the project.

40145	Advanced Curatorial Project Part 2 Display / Rethinking the White Cube AP 2 hpw, Wednesday 12-14, Iwalewahaus Minor subject Curators' Track module 3 Part 2	Fink
--------------	--	-------------

The seminar supports students in their methodological and content-based preparation for their curatorial projects; such as finding a theme, the conceptualisation, organization, and reflection of them. Recent debates on curatorial art and media studies are introduced in all phases of the project. Student are recommended to take this course during their second semester.

MA African Verbal and Visual Arts (Languages, Literatures, Media and Art)

40310	Interdisciplinary Seminar 2. Theory: Semiotics S 2 hpw, Monday 14-16 (second part as a block course in July) MA AVVA C8, SprInK M2, M9	Rettová, NN
--------------	---	--------------------

Semiotics is the study of meaning-making, of signs, symbols, and meaningful communication. After giving a general introduction into the field of semiotics, the course discusses recent theoretical contributions to semiotics from different disciplinary perspectives. Through selected topics, students are encouraged to engage with various theoretical approaches to semiotics from one or more of the domains of African Verbal and Visual Arts such as linguistics, literature, art, curation, and media studies.

40312	Languages and Meaning: Semantics S 2 hpw, Wednesday 10-12 MA AVVA E1.3, SprInK 6.2	Harvey

This seminar focuses on how speakers understand the world around them, and how this is encoded in language. Using examples from African languages, we will look at colour terminology, how plants and animals are named, and riddles and riddling traditions. We will also take time to consider calls for cognitive justice in the description of African languages.

40313	Thematic Course 1: Comparative Linguistics S 2 hpw, Thursday 12-14 MA AVVA E1.4, SprInK M8.1-2, M9	Rohmer, Pfadenhauer

Until today, many descriptions of linguistic phenomena are marked by colonial legacy and reflect a Eurocentric perspective on languages, language varieties and language communities. This course with a focus on comparative linguistics will focus on the practices of language description in (post)colonial societies in Africa and America. The main goal of this course is to identify and analyze concrete linguistic contexts and realities that reflect hierarchies between different languages, dialects, and language varieties.

The course is organised jointly with Dr Katrin Pfadenhauer (Romance Linguistics).

40316	Literature Outreach: Institutional Contexts African-Language Periodicals S 2 hpw, Tuesday 8- 10 MA AVVA E2.3	Blackburn, C. Vierke
--------------	---	---------------------------------

This course will explore periodical publications in African languages—newspapers, magazines, and comic books – and the institutions that create them, from government agencies to NGOs to private individuals. By looking at various publications and their English translations and by zooming in on specific time periods and ethnolinguistic contexts across the continent, students will get an idea of the range of periodicals in African languages and the various intentions behind their creation. Aside from the ever-present language question, we will explore what constitutes propaganda, where the lines between genres really lie, how far African-language serial publication can reach, and the role of popularity in a periodical's life and death.

40317	Literature Outreach: Practical Approaches S 2 hpw, Monday 10-12 MA AVVA E2.4	C. Vierke
--------------	---	------------------

In this course, the students will have the chance to independently apply their previously acquired methods, approaches, and skills of coordination, as well as of evaluation and criticism. They will have the chance to, for instance, organize readings, roundtables or presentations; conduct interviews with authors, translators or agents in literary institutions; or to write literary reviews.

40318	Art and Aesthetic Practices in Africa Inclusive Aesthetics: Theories on Curating S 2 hpw, Tuesday 12-14, Iwalewahaus MA AVVA E3.2	Fink

Our seminar invites you to think through concepts of inclusive aesthetics in the museum space. We will discuss the following questions: What is curation? What is aesthetics? How can curators help to create inclusive environments? What does an inclusive museum practice look like? What is the aesthetic gain for everyone involved? How is inclusive aesthetics related to decolonizing approaches?

The seminar includes practical exercises and visits to exhibitions which will enable you to challenge and answer the questions above. After participating in the seminar, students will be able to define "inclusive aesthetics" and apply them to their own curatorial and/or discursive work.

40319	History of Reception of African Modern Art From Mbari to Pan Afrikan Space Station – Un-affiliated art spaces & their collaborative politics S 2 hpw, Tuesday 14-16, Iwalewahaus MA AVVA E3.4	Fink

This course looks at the tactics of independent art spaces and time-based collectives and initiatives in Africa-related art history. From the claim "Let another world be born" that the FESTAC anthem (Walker/Euba) put forward, we embark on an intellectual and aesthetic tour to important art clubs, gatherings and collectives in the 20th and 21st century. We joyfully cruise from the Mbari Clubs, deeply connected to the story of Iwalewahaus, to moments in the present, like the Pan Afrikan Space Station on air, blaxTARLINES in Kumasi, UNDER GROUND in Kampala, the Sophiatown Arts Collective and the YEO-VILLEINNERCLUB in Johannesburg or Kültürhane in Mersin. We will want to find out about the "temporary aesthetic collectives" and their concepts of future, of reception and participation and the transformative power of "moments of collective joy" (Segal). In order to do so, we are always in conversation with contemporary makers in Africa and beyond

40325	Thesis Development / Colloquium Coll. 2 hpw, Thursday 10-12 MA AVVA C10	Greven, Sommer, C. Vierke
--------------	--	----------------------------------

In this course thematic areas relevant for the development of a master thesis topic will be discussed. Participants will be offered a platform to further develop a general thesis framework and with reference to their respective area of specialization work in progress will be presented and discussed accordingly.

40151	Research Colloquium Coll. 2 hpw, Tuesday 14-16 MA AVVA C9	Sommer

This course is a regular colloquium in which guest scholars, staff members and students present their research topics and the result of their work. Participation in one of the research colloquia (at African Linguistics/Literatures or Iwalewahaus) is obligatory for MA students to facilitate their participation in ongoing work and to get acquainted with and accustomed to discourses of the academic community.

Additional courses open for advanced BA-students, MA students and PhD-candidates (MA AVVA, BIGSAS, IPP, SprInK)

40253	Decoloniality of Digital Languages S 2 hpw, Thursday 14-16	Turner

This seminar explores the intersection of digital technology and languages. How can technology be used to foster linguistic decolonization and the prominence of African languages in the virtual realm?

Which projects, apps, and algorithms are currently developed to promote the digital use of African languages? After discussing some key concepts in this area, the seminar explores selected case studies situated in African contexts.

The seminar is open to all interested students. For acknowledgement in your study programme, please consult your programme advisor. Exam forms can be tailored accordingly.

For participation, please register at Irina.turner@uni-bayreuth.de.

40246	Academic Writing for MA-students	NN
	S 2 hpw, Monday 8-10

This course trains you in academic writing at the MA level. Beyond the formal basics of citing, referencing, and getting the formalities right, we will also look at essay and thesis structure, academic writing, and structures of argumentation beyond disciplinary boundaries. This seminar is highly recommended for first year students. Advanced students who want to improve on their writing skills for their final thesis are also very welcome.

40248	IsiXhosa – Overview	Sommer
	S 2 hpw, Monday 10-12
	SprInK M11 (Stud. Generale)

IsiXhosa is one of the 11 official languages of the Republic of South Africa and it is part of the linguistic repertoire of many multilingual South Africans. In winter 2023/24 another isiXhosa online course for beginners will start (cf. website of the Virtuelle Hochschule Bayern, VHB). This seminar will introduce the background and some structural aspects of this important South African language which also has a long-standing contact history in the southern African region. Background reading: Dowling, Tessa. 1998. Speak Xhosa with Us: Beginners to Advanced. Cape Town: African Voices.

40254	Language Encounters	Sommer
	S 2 hpw, Thursday 16-18
	SprInK 8.1-2, M4, M9

African Studies at Bayreuth have a particular focus on "Critical Perspectives" in the Social Sciences, in Africa-related disciplines and – ideally – in research-oriented teaching in international study programmes at the Faculty of Languages and Literatures. In this seminar we will look into some of these approaches and discuss how these have already been or could further be implemented into current interdisciplinary study programmes such as AVVA or "afriZert".

40249	African Philosophy	Rettová
	S 2 hpw, block seminar (beginning of term)
	Open for advanced BA-students, MA-students and PhD-candidates

This course outlines the development of African philosophy, from Ancient Egypt to the present day. It strives to teach African philosophy through texts: texts of multiple genres and in many languages (using translations in class). We will look at oral texts, performed texts, at texts preserved in ancient manuscripts, as well as at texts written in present times in African languages as well as the languages that came to Africa with colonialism. Through these texts we will approach topics such as humanity and personhood; objectivity and the world; gender; environmental ethics and animal rights; identity; time, history and the future; as well as the pivotal question of African philosophy, epistemology and the possibility of an African rationality.

40211	Formatting Thesis (BA, MA, PhD) and other scholarly papers with Word	Winkelmann
	S 1 hpw, block seminar, room and time upon agreement

The course consists of two parts, which can be attended independently.

1. Basics: general layout options, creating and modifying styles, creating and using templates (two 120-minute sessions)
2. Formatting longer papers and books: styles; pagination; headers; automatic numbering; lists of tables, figures etc. (three 120-minute sessions).

40184	Iwalewahaus Colloquium Coll. 2 hpw, block seminar, Iwalewahaus MA AVVA E3.6	Greven

In the Iwalewahaus Colloquium, the research activities of students at Iwalewahaus are introduced and discussed. While also taking into account methodological and content aspects, the course offers insights into the broad spectrum of research activities in the domain of Art and Curatorial Studies.

40245	Introduction into Wolof Language and Culture S 2 hpw, Friday 12-14	Rohmer

Wolof is a language spoken primarily in Senegal, The Gambia, and Mauritania, which belongs to the Niger-Congo linguistic phylum. As a starting point, the seminar offers an introduction into the phonology, morphology and syntax of the language. Further, the course aims at providing students with basic knowledge concerning the cultural context of the language.

40255	Language & Communication S 2 hpw, Tuesday 8-10 SprInK M 4	Dombrowsky-Hahn

Open for advanced BA-students, MA-students, and PhD-candidates with at least basic knowledge in linguistics.

Politeness is an important factor in human interaction reflected in language. It is understood, among others, as the use of language to promote, maintain or threaten harmonious social relations. The authors of the first seminal theory of politeness, Brown & Levinson (1987, Politeness. Some universals in language usage. Cambridge: CUP) claim its universal validity. However, the study of communicative acts in various communities of practice shows that politeness depends on ideologies, norms of interaction and expectations valid in the respective communities. In the seminar, we will focus on communicative acts in several African languages and try to analyze the underlying concept of politeness respectively.

40256	African Futurisms Reading Group S 2 hpw, Tuesday 16-18	Clarke

This informal reading group will run bi-weekly (every other week) focusing on texts which imagine ecological, social, economic, or technological futures – and beyond - from an African perspective. 40257	Higher Education, Science and Research in Africa S 2 hpw, Thursday, 10-12, Geschwister-Scholl-Platz 3 (BIGSAS venue, room S 17	Scherer
--------------	---	----------------

Africa's world of science has long been marginalised in a global context. But "science produced in both developed and developing countries is knowledge and no knowledge is either inferior or superior. Science from Africa is as valuable as science emanating from any other parts of the world. Information on the state of science in the developing world is incomplete, incorrect and inadequate" (Sooryamoorthy 2020, p. 23) This seminar addresses the discourse on higher education, research and development in Africa, embeds it in relation to the global field of higher education, research and development debate with a particular emphasis on decolonial politics in higher education. Participants will have the opportunity to engage with the emerging field of research on higher education and research in Africa and develop their own ideas in relation to the much bigger project behind the discourse.

Please register either via Campus Online and Christine.scherer@uni-bayreuth.de
